Information is subject to change. <sup>1</sup>Investors should not expect to be able to sell shares. There are many restrictions to redeem and investors cannot redeem shares upon demand or in the quantity desired. *The Fund, in its sole discretion, may accept investments below the minimum. ## MONTHLY UPDATE AND PORTFOLIO COMMENTARY – JANUARY 2026

In January performance was 1.20% driven predominantly by one of the Fund's newer venture co-investments, Project Cheetah. The late-stage venture asset raised a new round of outside financing in January, generating an unrealized 4.8x TVPI for the hold period.

Transaction volume was active with Bow River capitalizing four separate investments totaling $25 million in deployment. Bow River invested $3 million to a pan-European lower middle market seasoned primary focused on essential, asset-backed businesses with infrastructure-like characteristics. With the LP-secondary market continuing to be heavily competed, executing seasoned primaries with early value creation and staggered distribution profiles stapled to fee efficient co-investments continues to be the more favorable approach to deployment.

The Fund also executed on Project Wellington, a $15m no-fee, no-carry co-investment in a leading Canadian independent wealth management platform providing advisory services for high-net-worth individuals. The transaction was conservatively structured, executed at a significant discount to U.S. based RIA platforms, and backed by a high conviction sponsor who has a successful track record of operating across financial services. Underwriting assumptions are modest to generate an outsized return as the business operates a high-margin advisory-fee model, with upside levers driven by advisor recruitment, margin expansion, and potential M&A.

Bow River also executed two single-asset continuation vehicles and one add-on to an existing portfolio company. Project Sapphire was executed originally in October 2025 in a specialty pharmaceutical platform of 40+ products focused on reformulated and orphan drugs. Bow River originally committed $15 million and was able to add $4 million in incremental exposure as the business continues to trend materially ahead of plan. The Fund invested $4.7m in Project North, a GP-led secondary in a global, asset-light logistics franchisor enabling businesses to access discounted parcel and freight shipping through major carriers. The business exhibits ~94% gross and ~50% EBITDA margins while operating a subscription and royalties pricing model generating a high degree of recurring revenue.
